

AVIATRICE

The year is 1953. Jacqueline Auriol, the daughter-in-law of the French president, is strapped into her jet plane, about to create history.

This 7-minute film, in Jacqueline's own words, is told through a series of flashbacks describing the events which allowed her to become the first European female to break the sound barrier.

Watch the film, following this link:

<https://www.literacyshed.com/aviatrice.html>

Use the film to inspire your writing. Choose from the success criteria below:

SUCCESS CRITERIA

MUST describe the plane and settings

SHOULD use short sentences to build tension

COULD use synonyms to describe the jet's movements (eg. soared, swooped, dived)

CHALLENGE use similes (eg, as shiny as....) and metaphor (it was an arrow...) to describe Jacqueline's emotions or the movements of the jet plane

You may wish to write in the 1st person as if you are Jacqueline reminiscing (looking back) on this event.

Useful spellings

feelings	movement	sound	other useful words
nervous	soar	roar	atmosphere
excited	swoop	thunder	horizon/ horizontally
emotional	dive	rumble	vertical/vertically
calm	glide	scream	character
secure	climb	screech	achievement
confident	loop-the-loop	whisper	historic unsure	jettison	hiss	sky/skies
elated	plunge	crackle	memorable
proud	stride	boom	G-force
trepidation	pitch	blast	pressure

You can choose to:

- Type your story
- Use the 'Dictate' function to tell the story
- Handwrite your story and take a photo of it on See Saw